

Ageing & Gerontology, Health & Social Care

Spring/Summer 2023

Welcome

As the NHS and other health systems around the world respond to a global pandemic and we also deal with an ageing population which needs increasing levels of health and social care, it is more important than ever before that we raise awareness of the challenges we face and try to find solutions.

We have a growing list in gerontology, public health and social care with a range of textbooks, monographs and policy-focused books that all aim to push forward the boundaries of teaching, research, theory, policy and practice. We are currently seeking to publish broad research that fills a clear gap in the current literature, extending knowledge and reframing perspectives.

If you have an idea for a new book that fits with our approach, please contact:

Health in a Post-COVID World

Lessons from the Crisis of Western Liberalism

Sebastian Taylor, Royal College of Paediatrics

What part do the values of growth and prosperity, freedom and justice, security and democracy play in social policy and human welfare? How can we judge the policies offered to us as the recipe for progress?

At a time of global 'permacrisis', Sebastian Taylor applies his extensive frontline experience working with health systems and healthcare in the Global North and South to assess the concrete impact of contemporary liberal values on our welfare, development and environmental survival.

Drawing on research from around the world, he uses health as an objective metric to assess how effective these policies are for individuals and society as a whole.

How Britain Loves the NHS

Practices of Care and Contestation

Ellen A. Stewart

EPDF and EPUB available Open Access under CC-BY-NC-ND licence.

It is often claimed that the UK is unusually attached to its National Health Service and the last decade has seen increasingly visible displays of gratitude and love. This book offers a timely critique of both the potential, and the dysfunctions, of Britain's complex love affair with its healthcare system.

Disability and Ageing

Towards a Critical Perspective

Ann Leahy, Maynooth University

"This is a wonderfully exciting study of the ageing/disability intersection: we have been waiting for a book like this in disability studies for a long time."

TOM SHAKESPEARE, LONDON SCHOOL OF HYGIENE & TROPICAL MEDICINE

This text engages with social gerontology and disability studies. It investigates the subjective experiences of people ageing with longstanding disability and people first experiencing disability with ageing.

Ageing, Men and Social Relations

New Perspectives on Masculinities and Men's Social Connections in Later Life

Edited by Paul Willis, University of Bristol, Ilkka Pietilä and Marjaana Seppänen, University of Helsinki

While there has been a gradual increase in scholarship on men, ageing and masculinities, little attention has been paid to the social relations of men in later life. This collection fills this gap by foregrounding older men's experiences, providing new perspectives across the intersections of old age, ethnicities, class and sexual and gender identity.

Retirement Migration and Precarity in Later Life

Marion Repetti, University of Applied Sciences and Arts of Western Switzerland and Toni Calasanti, Virginia Tech

The last few decades have seen an increase in the migration of ageing people. This book seeks to understand the motivation behind retirement migration and how precarity in later life contributes to this trend.

Drawing on accounts of retirees from different nations, the book compares how they experience welfare policies in their home country versus their country of migration and how these shape their experiences.

"A valuable and timely resource for policy makers and practitioners. Robust cross-country and interdisciplinary research shows how reablement can reduce long-term care costs, improve wellbeing and professionalise care work."

CAROLINE GLENDINNING, UNIVERSITY OF YORK

Reablement is a radical new integrated care approach which seeks to empower older people to regain and maintain functioning and independence.

This book introduces reablement models and their implementation and outcomes across the world. Incorporating theoretical and empirical research alongside the perspectives of users, informal carers, practitioners and providers, the book reflects on key findings, challenges and the future of long-term care for older people.

A Care Crisis in the Nordic Welfare States?

Care Work, Gender Equality and Welfare State Sustainability

Edited by Lise Lotte Hansen, Hanne Marlene Dahl and Laura Horn, Roskilde University

"Even in the Nordic states, a care crisis is brewing. The authors expose crisis points in health, elderly and child care and offer perspectives to alleviate these crises."

JOAN TRONTO, UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA

Academic experts review the impact of neoliberal politics and ideology on the status of care work in Nordic countries. They explore different understandings of the care crisis, the consequences for gender equality and the long-term sustainability of the Nordic welfare states and provide insights into what the Nordic experience can tell us about wider international issues in care.

Social Care in the UK's Four Nations

Between Two Paradigms

Edited by Catherine Needham and Patrick Hall, University of Birmingham

The devolution of social care policy has led to key differences emerging between the UK's four care systems. This book presents research on the perspectives of social care policy makers on the systems in which they operate.

It raises questions about the role of 'standardisation' and 'differentiation' in social care, concluding that when given equal capacity to reform their respective systems, the regimes in each nation may take radically different shapes.

Unpaid Care Policies in the UK

Rights, Resources and Relationships

Liz Lloyd, University of Bristol

This book examines policies on unpaid care throughout the UK since the 1990 NHS and Community Care Act. It questions why, after decades of policies and strategies, unpaid care remains in a marginal position in the social care system and in society more broadly, as demonstrated during the COVID-19 pandemic.

By questioning why this crucially important sphere of human life remains under-resourced, it sheds light on the ways in which care is understood and how policy makers and service providers perceive the need for support.

Peer-reviewed books and journals tackling global social challenges.

This new platform offers you instant access to Bristol University Press and Policy Press digital content: ebooks, journal articles and collections from across the social sciences, including the new, non-profit, Open Access (OA) Global Social Challenges Journal.

Bristol University Press Digital, launched in Spring 2022, has been developed as part of our mission to publish research that tackles the biggest problems facing the world today.

The platform provides users with e-collections in the social sciences, uniquely curated and themed around the global social challenges and the UN's Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), enabling scholarly communities and practitioners with crucial insights to effect positive change in the world.

Benefits for academics, researchers and libraries include:

- 1,500+ books, 18 journals and 90 OA titles, all tagged and searchable by global social challenges;
- Access to our innovative new OA Global Social Challenges Journal, which breaks down boundaries to participation in, and access to, truly global social science research;
- An innovative tagging system, saving libraries time and resource in collating content and maintaining collection relevance to rapidly evolving themes;
- Maximum discoverability of our authors' work across books and journals;
- An intuitive and easy-to-use solution for both readers and librarians;
- Key industry standards for accessibility (WAGC 2.0) and reporting (COUNTER-compliant statistics).

Bristol University Press Digital is revolutionising the way scholarly communities search, experience and share content by connecting you with research that addresses the global social challenges.

Global Social Challenges Journal

NON-PROFIT, OPEN ACCESS
PUBLISHING FOR CHANGE

NOW ONLINE

Bristol University Press is delighted to announce our new fully Open Access journal.

"I'm proud to see Bristol University Press launching this important new journal, which promises to address the most urgent complexities of global social challenges by drawing together accessible international scholarship across the disciplines to inform policy and practice."

PROFESSOR JUDITH SQUIRES, DEPUTY VICE-CHANCELLOR AND PROVOST, UNIVERSITY OF BRISTOL

How can we reimagine society in an era of climate change, pandemic, hunger, poverty, questions of racial, ethnic and gender justice and other pressing global societal challenges? Significant threats and dangers lie ahead of us, but so do opportunities, as new ways of being, thinking and doing emerge. This new, fully Open Access journal aims to facilitate thinking about these positive new trajectories and to become the journal of choice to address the complexities of global social challenges across disciplines and fields.

It is the first such journal to be based in the social sciences while also engaging with research from humanities, arts and STEM. Including marginalised, minority and indigenous world views, the journal will be an important home for research that contributes to the creation of alternative futures that acknowledge past injustices and are socially and environmentally just and sustaining.

"Evidence-based policy is the watchword today in many countries and with many international organizations. This journal is the place to explore its many meanings, how it is operationalized and how it works. A journal worth reading!"

PROFESSOR TOM COOK, NORTHWESTERN UNIVERSITY, USA

Evidence & Policy is the first peer-reviewed journal dedicated to comprehensive and critical assessment of the relationship between researchers and the evidence they produce and the concerns of policy makers and practitioners.

International in scope and interdisciplinary in focus, it addresses the needs of those who develop public policies, provide public services or provide the research base for evaluation and development across a wide range of social and public policy issues (e.g. criminal justice, employment and welfare, education, environmental protection, finance, health, housing, international development, social care and transport), and those who are working to connect the two (such as knowledge brokers).

As well as more traditional research articles, the journal includes review and method articles, contemporary debate pieces and articles from practice.

"Longitudinal and Life Course Studies provides a much-needed outlet for high-quality interdisciplinary research on the life course. No other journal offers life course researchers as wide a range of disciplines, topics, and methods."

MARY CLARE LENNON, CITY UNIVERSITY OF NEW YORK, USA

Longitudinal and Life Course Studies is a peer-reviewed journal dedicated to the needs of researchers studying the life course and using longitudinal methods at the interfaces of social, developmental and health sciences. It fosters cross-disciplinary and international endeavours and promotes the creation and exploitation of longitudinal data resources as well as their application to policy issues. As the journal of the Society for Longitudinal and Life Course Studies (SLLS), it provides an opportunity for scholars at all stages of their careers to publish work crossing disciplinary boundaries which is often beyond the scope of more conventional, single-field journals.

Critical and Radical Social Work

An International Journal

Volume 11 | 2023 | 3 issues

SCOPUS CITE SCORE 0.8

Editor in Chief: Michael Lavalette, Liverpool Hope University, UK

Deputy Editors: Dimitra-Dora Teloni, University of West Attica, Greece and Charlotte Williams, Bangor University, UK

"A much-needed outlet for social workers to promote innovative and challenging standpoints. The journal stimulates debate and gives voice to those advocating for groups that are relegated to the margins."

LINDA BRISKMAN, SWINBURNE INSTITUTE FOR SOCIAL RESEARCH, AUSTRALIA

Critical and Radical Social Work is an exciting journal that promotes debate and scholarship around a range of engaged social work themes.

The journal publishes papers which seek to analyse and respond to the latest issues in the field, such as the impact of global neoliberalism on social welfare, austerity and social work, social work and social movements and the ways that social work intersects with inequality and oppression.

It welcomes contributions that consider and question themes relating to the definition of social work and social work professionalism, that look at ways in which organic and 'indigenous' practice can expand concepts of the social work project and that consider alternative and radical histories of social work activity.

As a truly international journal it actively encourages contributions from academics, scholars and practitioners from across the global village.

SCOPUS CITESCORE 1.4

Co-Editors: Daiga Kamerāde, University of Salford, UK, James Rees, University of Wolverhampton, UK and Lili Wang, Arizona State University, USA

Consulting Editor: Carl Milofsky, Bucknell University, USA

"Voluntary Sector Review publishes outstanding research for academic, policy, and practice audiences. I especially appreciate VSR's efforts to publish work from a variety of research paradigms and perspectives."

ANGELA M. EIKENBERRY, UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASKA AT OMAHA, USA

Published in association with the Voluntary Sector Studies Network (VSSN)

Voluntary Sector Review publishes accessible, high-quality, peer-reviewed papers on all aspects of the voluntary, community, civil society and third sectors. A unique feature of the Voluntary Sector Review is the combination of papers aimed at academic, policy and practice audiences. This is designed to ensure that the results of the latest academic research are made available to the widest possible audience and are grounded in a close engagement with both policy and practical issues.

The Voluntary Sector Review is an explicitly interdisciplinary and international journal – the first to be European based. We welcome contributions from authors from all disciplines and all countries. We are interested in all aspects of voluntary, community, civil society and third-sector activity.
