COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT

Our Community Development list looks at the various practices and systems that support communities to take control of their lives, services and environments. Our authors in this list support the active participation of individuals in their communities, and their rigorous research and thought-provoking work pushes existing boundaries of knowledge to re-orient thinking in the sphere of community development and facilitate impactful change.

We publish work that makes a difference to policy and practice whilst responding to the latest issues and developments in the field. Our books and series help students in their studies, push forward current research and assist practitioners in their demanding day-to-day work.

If you are interested in writing for our Community Development list, please contact our Commissioning Editor at: sarah.bird@bristol.ac.uk or visit our information for authors page to download our proposal guidelines.
