

Sociology of Health Professions

Series Editors: Mike Saks, University of Suffolk, University of Lincoln, Royal Veterinary College, University of London, University of Westminster and University of Toronto and Mike Dent, Staffordshire University

This series centres on the production of high quality, original work in the sociology of health professions with an innovative focus on the likely future direction of such professions.

Books in the series cover a wide range of associated health professional areas, and encompass interrelated health fields such as social care, as well as medicine, nursing and the allied health professions.

The series aims to:

- inform and stimulate debate about issues in the sociology of health professions;
- influence policy development and practice in the fields concerned;
- make a significant contribution to academic thinking in the sociology of health;
- produce original national/international work of recognised high quality.

The Allied Health Professions

By Susan Nancarrow and Alan Borthwick

HB £79.99 ISBN 9781447345367

EPUB £27.99 ISBN 9781447345374

Mar 2021

Drawing on case studies from optometrists, physiotherapists, podiatrists and allied health assistants, this book offers an innovative comparison of allied health occupations in Australia and Britain. Adopting a theory of the sociology of health professions, it explores how the allied health professions can achieve their professional goals.

Support Workers and the Health Professions in International Perspective

Edited by Mike Saks

HB £79.99 ISBN 9781447352105

EPUB £27.99 ISBN 9781447352129

Jul 2020

This original collection analyses the global experience of health care support workers (HSWs) and examines their interface with the health professions, regulatory practice risks, employment challenges and the dilemmas of an ageing population. Crucial future policy recommendations are also made for a world becoming increasingly dependent on HSWs.

Professional Health Regulation in the Public Interest

Edited by Marty Chamberlain, Mike Dent and Mike Saks

HB £79.99 ISBN 9781447332268

EPUB £27.99 ISBN 9781447335337

Jun 2018

Bringing together leading academics worldwide, this collection compares and critically examines the ways in which different countries are regulating healthcare in general, and health professions in particular, in the interest of users and the wider public.

Call for proposals

The series editors invite proposals for books drawing on international academic perspectives on health professions with a view towards influencing future social change.

They are keen to receive submissions on areas such as comparative health organisation, complementary and alternative medicine, health care governance, health leadership and management, and users in health care.
